

Rowena Chow

Rowena Chow holds a BSc in Biology, is a Project Management Professional, and is The Open Group Architecture Framework certified. She has over 12 years of experience as a business architect and project manager, with specialization in supporting business-IT relationships.

Rowena has worked with various health agencies to support their initiatives, projects and technology. She has worked with The University Health Network and the Ontario Health/Cancer Care Ontario. Most recently, Rowena has provided crucial support to the Ontario Health Central to support COVID-19 testing in Ontario and Shared Health Manitoba to support provincial services for addiction and mental health.

Rowena brings an innovative and experienced approach to managing projects, vendors and supply chains through integration with information technology.

